For Immediate Release

Snow Emergency Declaration

Per Section 122-126 of the municipal code, a snow emergency in the City of Evansville has been declared from 12:00 noon on Thursday February 16th 2023 to 9:00 am Friday February 17th 2023 to aid the city's snow removal operations. The National Weather Service is predicting a significant snow fall, ice or drifting over the course of this time.

This means there shall be no parking permitted on either side of the city's streets and all vehicles must be parked on private property or in designated public parking areas per Section 122-133 of the municipal code. Vehicles parked in violation of these restrictions will be ticketed and towed. Once the snow has ended and a street has been cleared to the curb street parking is allowed again.

When a snow emergency is declared on a scheduled trash pickup day please remember to place your cans on the terrace or in the apron of your driveway.

Again, a Snow Emergency is in effect from 12:00 noon on Thursday February 16th 2023 to 9:00 am Friday February 17th 2023. Parking restrictions during this period will allow crews to remove as much snow as possible from this projected storm.

The following is a link to the city's website which outlines the Snow Emergency Parking Restrictions as well as allowable parking areas.
